(By William Cook.)

Paris.—(Copyright, N. Y. World.)—The lateat reports from the battlefield—from the Somme to the Veste—indicate the enemy's determination to offer desperate resistance to the allied advance on the Hindenburg line. Nevertheless, the Franco-British troops continue to press forward daily, capturing prisoners and material.

Line Badly Cracked.

Already the Hindenburg line has been badly cracked, for not only have the British overrun the northern switch line, but the French armics are hammering away south of La Fre. It is here that the enemy's resistance has become stronger, for any approach to the city of Laon would be a serious defeat for the Germans.

Expects Retreat to Continue.

Not only have the Germans sought the protection of their guns, but also that of the rivers and canals which abound in Picardy. Discussing a probable German stand on the Hindenburg line, a highly-placed French military official told me he expected Ludendorff would try to reorganize his broken divisions on that line, but that the allies are now loo strong for him and would make short work of the elaborate defensive positions organized by Von Hindenburg.

This official's epinion is that, in a very short time, the Germans would be fighting for their very lives on a line running near the Meuse, and that possibly they would not be able to hold such a line very long.

"These are great days for France and the allies," said the official. "Although we must not be too optimistic, we can safely say Germany is beaten."

Vents Rage on Terrain Given Up.

In the meantime the enemy is again giving proof of the rage that consumes him at being forced to retreat. In all the lighting of the last fortnight many villarges of the last fortnight many villarges have been liberated, but few remain except as names. Everywhere is desolation; that which was not destroyed in battle was blown up, sometimes a week after the fighting, the Germans having placed timed infernal machines in those parts of buildings whic

LATE RETURNS CONFIRM DEFEAT OF HARDWICK

No Change in Congressional Races, Except in Eleventh, Where Lankford Won Out.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 13.—Later returns from Wednesday's primaries only served to emphasize the fact that Geor-gia is solidly behind the president in anything he undertakes, whether it is naming a pro-administration senator or raising an invincible army to defeat or raising an invincible army to defeat the Hun.

William J. Harris, senatorial candidate of the administration, it is now known, has carried 113 counties with a total electoral vote of 28s. Although Congressman, Howard carried more counties than Senator Hardwick, the latter has a slight lead in the electoral votes.
The congressional results remain as indicated yesterday except in the Eleventh district, where Judge W. C. Lankford has defeated J. Randall Walker for the nomination.

DEBS FOUND GUILTY: MUST SERVE TEN YEARS

"It Is All Right," Says Socialist Leader on Hearing Verdict.

Leader on Hearing Verdict.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 13.—Engene V.
Debs, charged with violating the espionage act, was found guilty by a federal Jury yesterday. Talking to newspaper men after the verdict, Debs said:

"It is all right. I have no complaint to make. It will come out all right in God's good time."

Of the original ten counts of the indictment but four remained when the jury retired to consider the evidence. The verdict found him guilty of three; not guilty of one. He was found guilty of attempting to incite insubordination, disloyalty, etc., in the military and naval forces: attempting to obstruct recruiting and uttering language tending to incite, provoke and encourage resistance to the United States and to promote the cause of the enemy.

The count on which he was adjudged innocent charged that he opposed the cause of the United States.

Counsel for both sides said that they considered Judge Westenhaver's instructions fair. They were exhaustive and couched in simple language and, delivered in a kindly manner, required one and a half hours. He made no comment on the evidence, which, presented by the deendant, but assured the jury that the espionage

MORE WHO FAILED TO REGISTER WILL BE ROUNDED UP Washington. Sept. 13.—A nation-wide effort to round up men who falled to register for the draft will be started immediately by a specially organized corps of department of justice agents. It was learned that this corps has been in process of organization for some time and will work quietly without, making general raids, like those in New York, which caused adverse criticism.

Methods have been developed for gathering information from hundreds of sources of men within the new draft ages who falled to respond, and this will be used to prevent evasion.

tators remained in the courtroom throughout.

When it was announced that the jury was ready to report the crush became sreat. Mrs. Rose Pasior Stokes, herself under conviction on a similar charge, came inside the railing. Praviously, at Deba' request, she had remained hidden in the audience.

She drew her chair beside his and into a her hands he slipped his own gaunt hand, where it remained while the cierk was reading the verdict and polling the jury. She had expected an adverse verdict from the first, admitting it to her friends. Nor was it a surprise to Deba. In his address to the jury he said he had not one word to retract, and rather went out of his way to accept the St. Louis antiwar platform.

The maximum penalty is twenty years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000, Judge Westenhaver stated he would hear counsel on motion for a new trial next Saturday. Deba, until then, will remain at liberty under the trial bond.

U. S. DRIVE SURPRISE

British Public Receives News

With Greatest Enthusiasm.

With Greatest Enthusiasm.

London, Sept. 13.—The British public has been anxiously looking for another American move, but hardly expected it so soon, and the news of the Franco-American attack to plnch out the St. Mihlel salient which the Germans drove into the French line in September, 1914, and have held ever since was received here with the greatest enthusiasm, and according to British correspondents at the front who heard of the good progress the Americans are making, with equal enthusiasm there.

As a big advance in this direction would soon cause great inconvenience to the enemy before Metz, it is fully expected that heavy resistance will be met. According to military experts, the German front between Verdun and the Swiss frontier for many months has been only thinly held with inferior troops in comparison to the remainder of the front to the sea, and one of the objects Gen. Ludendorff undoubtedly expected this section of the battle line to be the object of an attack by the American army, which was generally supposed to be somewhere in this neighborhood.

AMERICAN HEROES

AMERICAN HEROES

DISLIKE FLATTERY

(By Warner Allen.)

On the American Front in France, Sept. 10.—(Copyright, N. Y. World.)—American officers and soldiers who have been in the thick of things protest very frankly against the exagerated stories that have been published. I have noticed among nearly all the American troops I have met a very genuine and praiseworthy modesty. One company officer, who was having a short spell of convalescence after being badly gassed, said to me:

"We do not want to be told we are the best troops in the world. We know we are new on this job and have a lot to learn. It is enough for us to know that what we have done has satisfied such fighting soldiers as Marshal Foch and Gen. Mangin, and, after their praise, we resent the idea of any newspaper correspondent describing us as supermen. We show our men are good men and have fine possibilities. The cream of our nation is out here, and it would be sad indeed if they could not give a good account of themselves. All we ask is to give us our due and no more."
